

Public Disclosure:
Alderson Broaddus University
Voluntary Resignation of Accreditation
Updated August 25, 2023

Alderson Broaddus University in Philippi, West Virginia, voluntarily resigned its accreditation with the Higher Learning Commission, effective December 31, 2023, due to its upcoming closure.

Transcripts and other student records will be housed permanently at West Virginia Wesleyan College, www.wvwc.edu Inquiries regarding records from 1990 and earlier should be directed to the West Virginia Higher Education Policy Commission at www.wvhepc.edu

The institution has established two teach-out arrangements that have been approved by HLC:

- Davis & Elkins College at www.dewv.edu
- West Virginia Wesleyan College at www.wvwc.edu

For questions or other assistance, students and parents can contact the West Virginia Higher Education Policy Commission at www.wvhepc.edu

Students with federal loans may be eligible to pursue a closed-school student loan discharge. Information is available at:

<https://studentaid.gov/manage-loans/forgiveness-cancellation/closed-school>

Additional questions about student loans should be directed to the U.S. Department of Education.

About the Higher Learning Commission

The Higher Learning Commission accredits approximately 1,000 colleges and universities in the United States. HLC is a private, nonprofit accrediting agency. It is recognized by the U.S. Department of Education and the Council for Higher Education Accreditation. Questions? Contact info@hlcommission.org or call 312.263.0456.

Original Posting Date: August 2, 2023

Updated Posting Date: August 25, 2023